NATIONAL CONSTITUTION CENTER TO HOST CIVIC GATHERING ON SUPREME COURT GAY MARRIAGE DECISION

Civic Gathering to Take Place 12 PM – 1 PM Day of Supreme Court Decision on Obergefell v. Hodges

- WHO: General public and National Constitution Center visitors
Jeffrey Rosen, President and CEO, National Constitution Center
- WHAT: The National Constitution Center invites the public to gather in its lobby to read the Supreme Court decision and learn about the constitutional debate on same sex marriage. Light refreshments will be provided. The Center's feature exhibit Speaking Out for Equality, The Constitution, Gay Rights, and The Supreme Court will be FREE from 12 PM – 5 PM.
- WHY: The National Constitution Center is the first and only institution established by Congress to disseminate information about the United States Constitution on a non-partisan basis, making it an ideal civic gathering place for citizens to learn about Supreme Court decisions. This is the first in a series of civic gatherings the Center will host on landmark Supreme Court decisions.
- WHEN: From 12:00 PM - 1:00 PM the day of the Supreme Court's decision on Obergefell v. Hodges. The Center's feature exhibit, Speaking Out for Equality, The Constitution, Gay Rights, and The Supreme Court will be FREE from 12 PM – 5 PM.
